Dear Mother:

I will use up on you this paper on which I started to make out the 1915 class list for the Legenda. I spoiled one sheet. I am just about to go to dinner, as usual. I must go down early and telephone for Dorothea.

I have done lots of studying to-day. I read all the morning in the library; this afternoon after my one class I took a nap and then read some more; Dorothea was asleep too. We are great sleepers in here. We have a new sleeping sign in blue and white which I bought at the fair.

Prof. Palmer is to talk about Pope to-night. I don't like Pope, but perhaps I will after hearing the lecture. Our lesson for next time in Lit. 19 is on Pope.

Lois Cottrell and I had a nice walk yesterday afternoon. These days are great for taking walks; too bad I don't have time to take more. To-morrow night Esther and I are going in to stay with Helen and see "Peter Pan". Thursday night we have our dinner party, so I don't know as I will get a letter written. Mr. Hamilton told me of another time when I can come for my lesson on Monday, so I can go to Parlow's recital. Alice Mulligan is going with me, which will be fun.

I had a letter from Florence to-day and she didn't say anything about her throat, so it must be better. Must stop now. With love,

Mary
